

The Funni Farm Product Claims & Labeling Policy

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

Label Accuracy

The Funni Farm strives to ensure product labels accurately identify ingredients, serving information, batch identification, and other required information at the time of manufacture.

Marketing Claims

We make reasonable efforts to ensure product descriptions and marketing materials are truthful and comply with applicable laws and regulations.

No Disease Claims

Our products are not marketed as diagnosing, treating, curing, or preventing any disease. Customers should not rely on product information as medical advice.

Label Updates

Labels may change from time to time to reflect product improvements, regulatory updates, or packaging revisions without prior notice.

Customer Questions

If you have questions about ingredients, labeling, allergens, or product information, please contact us before using the product.
