

The Funni Farm Record Retention Policy

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

Purpose

The Funni Farm maintains business records to support customer service, product traceability, regulatory compliance, accounting, and normal business operations.

Records Maintained

Records may include customer orders, invoices, shipping records, batch and lot information, Certificates of Analysis (COAs), supplier documentation, and customer communications.

Retention Periods

Business records are retained for commercially reasonable periods or as otherwise required by applicable law.

Confidentiality

Records containing personal or confidential information are protected using reasonable administrative and technical safeguards.

Secure Disposal

When records are no longer required, they are disposed of using reasonable methods intended to protect confidential information.

Policy Updates

This policy may be updated periodically to reflect changes in legal requirements or business practices.
